The Center for Veterans and Their Families at Rush

The battle is over.
The journey isn't.

2.5 million veterans have served since 9/11.

These veterans will live with the experiences of combat for the rest of their lives.

The Road Home Program at the Center for Veterans and Their Families at Rush was created to help the men and women and their families whose lives were changed forever by these wars.

And to honor the 6,756 brave men and women who did not come home.

The Center for Veterans and Their Families at Rush provides support, counseling and health services to help veterans and their families understand, heal from and cope with the invisible wounds of war. You aren't in this alone.

- We offer treatment and counseling for post-traumatic stress disorder, traumatic brain injury and military sexual assault.
- We work with the family, friends and partners of veterans to support them through the process of recovery and reintegration.
- We also offer community education on the invisible wounds of war and the challenges facing military families.
