Biographical Note

Fred Gould was a Chief Yeoman in the United States Navy. He was an instructor at the U.S.N. Yeoman School at the Naval Training Station in Newport, Rhode Island. Gould taught the final stage of instruction known as the Commanding Officer's Class. He also became the Associate Headmaster at some point in his time at the Yeoman School. Gould is often referred to as an instructor, actor, musician, singer, comedian, lecturer, philosopher, and guide. Gould left the Yeoman School, sometime around 1918, due to a foreign draft.

Scope and Content of the Collection

The Fred Gould collection contains scrapbooks with photographs, newspaper clippings, and some ephemera. The photographs include various locations around the United States and international countries. The collections contains materials ranging from 1906 - 1918, with one newspaper from 1942. The collection also includes one oversized painting.
Arrangement

The collection arrived in no discernable order. PMML staff have organized the collection by the size of material.
