Help for Children

Children are naturally resilient and can bounce back from many challenges. We provide your children with the care and attention they need to address the emotional, behavioral and physical issues that arise when a family is under stress.

The Family Center

ROAD HOME PROGRAM
Children are the most vulnerable victims of the invisible wounds of war. They often don’t know how to process what’s happening or handle tough emotions. That in turn can lead to confusion, anger, sadness, anxiety and problems at school.

Child therapy can help your child express what he or she is feeling, better understand what their parent is feeling and cope with the emotions and challenges that arise.

The Family Center at the Road Home Program provides a safe and supportive environment for children to express themselves and communicate their needs. We take the time to understand your child’s unique situation, and we tailor our care to best serve his or her individual needs.

Some possibilities for your child’s treatment include:

- Child therapy
- Family therapy
- Parenting advice
- Medication management
- Referrals to additional services

Our services are provided regardless of length of service, discharge status or ability to pay.

Road Home is located at 1645 W. Jackson Blvd, Suite 602, Chicago, IL 60612. We are easily accessible by public transportation.

If you, or someone you know needs help, please call us at (312) 942-VETS (8387) or visit www.RoadHomeProgram.org to schedule an appointment.
