Biographical Note

Charles William Vann (Vyhnaneck) was born in November 12, 1916 in Berwyn, Illinois, and grew up in Chicago. He worked as a porter and stenographer for a railroad company in Chicago before enlisting in the U.S. Army in March 1942. He spent the next 6 months in Miami, Florida at the Miami Beach school as an Aviation Cadet.

Upon graduation from Officer Candidate School, he transferred to New York Air Defense Wing, where he served as squadron supply officer. In February 1943, Vann went to bombardier preflight school in Ellington Field, Texas. After finishing preflight school Vann attended Advanced Bombardier school in Midland, Texas, the largest bombardier school, which was affectionately called "Bombardier College." Shortly after graduating Vann married his high school sweetheart, Florence Sedlack, and he moved to Boise, Idaho where he continued training. Beginning in March 1944, Vann spent 13 months as an instructor, teaching new bombardiers combat duties, advanced bombing techniques, and the theory behind bombing and the bombsight.

From April to October 1945, Vann was stationed in Guam and served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater. During his tour he served as a 1st Lieutenant on a B-29 Superfortress in the 29th Bomb Group of the 43rd Bomb Squadron with the 20th Air Force, and completed 28 missions with over 400 combat hours. He participated in the firebombing of Japan. Vann received the Air Medal Award, the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon, and the Award of the Distinguished-Flying Cross for his participation in a “daring daylight incendiary strike against the city of Yokahama.” Vann was promoted to Captain before being relieved of active duty and returning to Chicago. Upon his return to Chicago, Vann worked as a salesman for the lawn and garden business, and was part of the Army Air Force reserves. He was active in community organizations such as the Boy Scouts. Later in his life Vann was active in the Bombardier Veterans organization.

Charles William Vann passed away on July 21, 1997 as the age of 81.
